Join us on this course to explore how mentors can support and develop the work of teachers in schools. The course aims to support mentors working with teachers by offering them strategies and tools for their work with teachers as well as examples of effective mentorship approaches leading to more effective, happier, and successful teachers. The course offers a framework for mentors of all experience levels to exchange ideas, experiences and resources.

The course is relevant to all kinds of mentors, coaches, or tutors working at school or university level. However, the focus is primarily on mentoring of colleagues within a school. Particular references are also made to the mentoring of beginning teachers, supporting them to find their place in the school and classroom.

As a course participant you will develop:

- An understanding of the role of a mentor
- An understanding of the needs and specificities of working with beginning teachers
- An understanding of the types of strategies and tools that are available to support mentors and how to effectively use them

Target audience

The course is targeted at anybody interested in the mentoring of teachers. While examples will mostly be taken from in-school mentoring situations, the course content and activities is equally relevant to mentors from outside of school. It is not a requirement to be in an active mentoring situation although the main course activity is designed to support an active mentoring relationship.

Certification

You will receive digital module badges for every completed module of the course as well as a course badge and a course certificate upon completion of the full course. All badges can be exported to the Mozilla Badge Backpack.

Course Moderators

- Capacity to hold effective collaborative conversations with their mentees
- Capacity to effectively prepare, run and follow-up lesson observations

As part of the course, you will prepare a review and planning document designed to support your work with your mentee(s) after finishing the course.

Course participants from France, Italy, Romania, and Sweden will have the opportunity to follow-up the course with an ongoing community of practice in their own language and supported by a national moderator. Activities and support will be offered in a national context in this community.
