

Project details:

INDUCAS is a pilot project funded by the European Union which ran between May 2017 and April 2018.

It addressed two main questions:

1. How can beginning teachers be better supported through a targeted network that facilitates a dialogue amongst them?
2. How could a similar network of mentors help them develop their practice within their own community and for the benefit of beginning teachers whom they are bound to support?

During the project, newly-appointed teachers and mentors from four pilot countries (Italy, France, Sweden and Romania) were invited to join the platform and participate in eight communities (one community for each of the two networks in each of the four countries). Members of the communities were encouraged to interact with other peers, share ideas, address challenges and learn together.

More information about the project can be found here: www.inducas.eu

Description of tasks:

During the duration of the project INDUCAS, the person mentioned in the certificate has actively participated in the activities of the community by:

- Interacting with other peers in the forums discussions
- Sharing resources
- Participating in online events/webinars

Funded by the European Union